GENERAL INFORMATION

The City – Berlin

The capital of Germany has a population of 3.5 million. Covering an area of 892 square kilometres, Berlin is the Goliath among German cities. By international comparison, the German capital is the second largest city in the European Union in terms of its population and the fifth largest in terms of its area.

The District - Köpenick

Treptow-Köpenick is Berlin's largest district and is located in the southeast of the 3.4 million-metropolis. It is Berlin's most wooded area and produces fresh air for the whole city. Here, the metropolis' pulse is blue, nowhere else in Berlin is there as much water to be found as here. Treptow-Köpenick is surrounded and shaped by waterways and inviting lakes which can be explored by boat.

Berlin's largest forests can also be found only a few kilometres away. In its heart: Berlin's largest lake – the "Müggelsee" – and the capital's highest hill (115 m). 7 lakes and 135 km of waterways build the Center of Berlin's best water-sport area. Many labelled jetties are waiting for leisure-time-captains from near and far. We recommend spending the night by the waterside. There are many excellent hotels – quiet and surrounded by forests – that invite you to have an unforgettable stay.

The Location - Mellowpark

The Mellowpark is located in the southeast of Berlin. With a size of 60 000m² the park offers space for different sport activities. Beside the diverse supply including BMX, Skateboard, Basketball and Graffiti is the park perfect for relaxing. Since ten years the park is well known for successful self-determined leisure and a youth cultural crossroads in public space. The idea of the park is it to connect different youth cultures at one location and to provide a place where youth people can be themselves. Since 2012 Germany's first and only BMX Supercrosstrack is located at the Mellowpark. Because of that BMX Race also found a place in addition to BMX Freestyle on the huge BMX playground.
