Riders are transferred and seeded according to the position gained in the time trial qualification (and the actual run they qualified from).

- The number of entered riders per category determines how many riders qualify after the first run of the time trials, according to the following table:

48-63 Entries Qualify the top 48 (and top 16 into a time trials superfinal) from the time trial to eight 6-rider eighth finals, featured over three rounds.

32-47 Entries Qualify the top 32 (and top 16 into a time trials superfinal) from the time trial to four 8-rider quarter-finals, featured over three rounds.

25-31 Entries Qualify the top 24 (and top 16 into a time trials superfinal) from the time trial to four 6-rider quarter-finals, featured over three rounds.

16-24 Entries Qualify the top 16 (and top 8 into a time trials superfinal) from the time trial to two 8-rider semi-finals, featured over three rounds.

12-15 Entries Qualify the top 12 (and top 6 into a time trials superfinal) from the time trial to two 6-rider semi-finals, featured over three rounds.

With less than 12 entries, the category will not be run.
